Judge George Gray, one of the Peace Commissioners who drafted the treaty with Spain, sent at the time from Paris to President McKinley the following despatch:

"The undersigned cannot agree that it is wise to take Philippine Islands in whole or in part. To do so would be to reverse accepted Continental policy of the country, declared and acted upon throughout our history. Propinquity governs the case of Cuba and Porto Rico. Policy proposed introduces us into European politics and entangling alliances, against which Washington and all American statesmen have protested. It will make necessary a navy equal to largest of powers; a greatly increased military establishment; immense sums for fortifications and harbors; multiply occasions for dangerous complications with foreign nations, and increase burdens of taxation. Will receive in compensation no outlet for American labor in labor market already overcrowded and cheap."
